SOUTH SIDE HIGH SCHOOL

FORT WAYNE, INDIANA

South Side's Holding Power

"We all felt we had a part in the management of the place, and in sustaining its character and dignity. Hence, we soon became warmly attached to it—I am sure I did for one, and I never knew, in all my time, of any boy being otherwise—and learnt with a good will, desiring to do it credit."

Thus wrote Charles Dickens in 1849; and so think we who have been privileged to attend South Side for four years. After thinking about it for a while, we find that the reasons we have been willing to stay here are decidedly similar to those Dickens expressed about the school he attended.

The holding power of South Side, that is, the qualities that make the students interested enough in the school to stay here for four years and get as much as they can out of the time they spend here, is very strong. In the faculty, which has a "part in the management of the place", we have found warm friends and cheerful advisers.

After we entered the doors for the first time "we soon became warmly attached to the place", for we were caught up in the many activities offered in the school. We discovered that school could furnish fun and teach us something at the same time. In every sport we found the teams "desiring to do it credit", and those of us who could not take part in them trying to do the same thing in the cheering section.

In every class we "learnt with a good will", for we were taught that education is essential. In every act around school—in class, in center hall, at games, wherever we were—we found ourselves "sustaining its character and dignity."

Why is South Side so good? Why does it produce fine scholars as well as sportsmen? Why does it offer good classes and clubs? There are three reasons to answer these and many other "Why?" questions about South Side. First, we must pay tribute to the citizens of Fort Wayne, for they are interested in education and see that their children get the best possible training. Secondly, three lanes of work are provided here; the student may take the type of work best suited to his or her needs and abilities. The third reason is highly important. The school is maintaining a steady program of emphasizing the desirability of completing one's high school work.

Enough of cold reasoning? Perhaps, so let us look at the feelings of those who are about to leave the halls of Archerdom.

We've been here four years—four too-brief years filled to the brim with basketball and football games, club meetings, dances, and, of course, classes. A few years from now when we look back on the time we spent here, we'll think that four years were a mighty short time. We might be inclined to wonder just what we liked about South Side. For most of us that would be a difficult question to answer, since so many things happen here that are wholesome, interesting, and educational. It is these events and activities, coupled with the well-planned and executed scholastic program, that give South Side its holding power.

To you underclassmen, we, the Seniors of 1948, leave South Side and everything it offers. To you we give the responsibility of learning "with a good will and sustaining its character and dignity" so those who follow you will also be drawn by South Side's wonderful holding power. Take advantage of your parents' interest in education, of the three courses offered here; and remember what you are told about the importance of securing a high school education, and you will most certainly be held here as we have been.

Dearest Marianne (Cheec),

Here it is the end of another two weeks & what's to show for it same times I wonder Bad grades no guys and summer school to look forward to next!

Sounds bad but we've had lots of good times working for Ann. at school, games + etc. even selling tickets wasn't too bad. Had more fun on double date with some Elmhurst guys (tough luck). Bill will be home in July (maybe? you know, don't take care of kids too much. That might've went skating & still don't quite understand but I felt rather bad the way things worked out in the end, but look who's got a guy now. Can't we ever get together & both have a guy at the same time? (you'll have to fix me up sometime). You should've heard from Phil since. Remember that cute 2nds. eye so ___? (obnoxious) nite we had milkshakes, home to write) cookies, & french fries then went come next chocolate fudge. (Didn't feel so good + Phil's Journey all in the same boat. also Bill's house & Don't forget the time Bill took you home & mom came out & thought that Phil & I were you & I am (Phil's cousin) and the Concordia game. & Mathom at the Concordia game. before & that's about the end of the good times. Lots of Luck, Remember & Happy New Year!

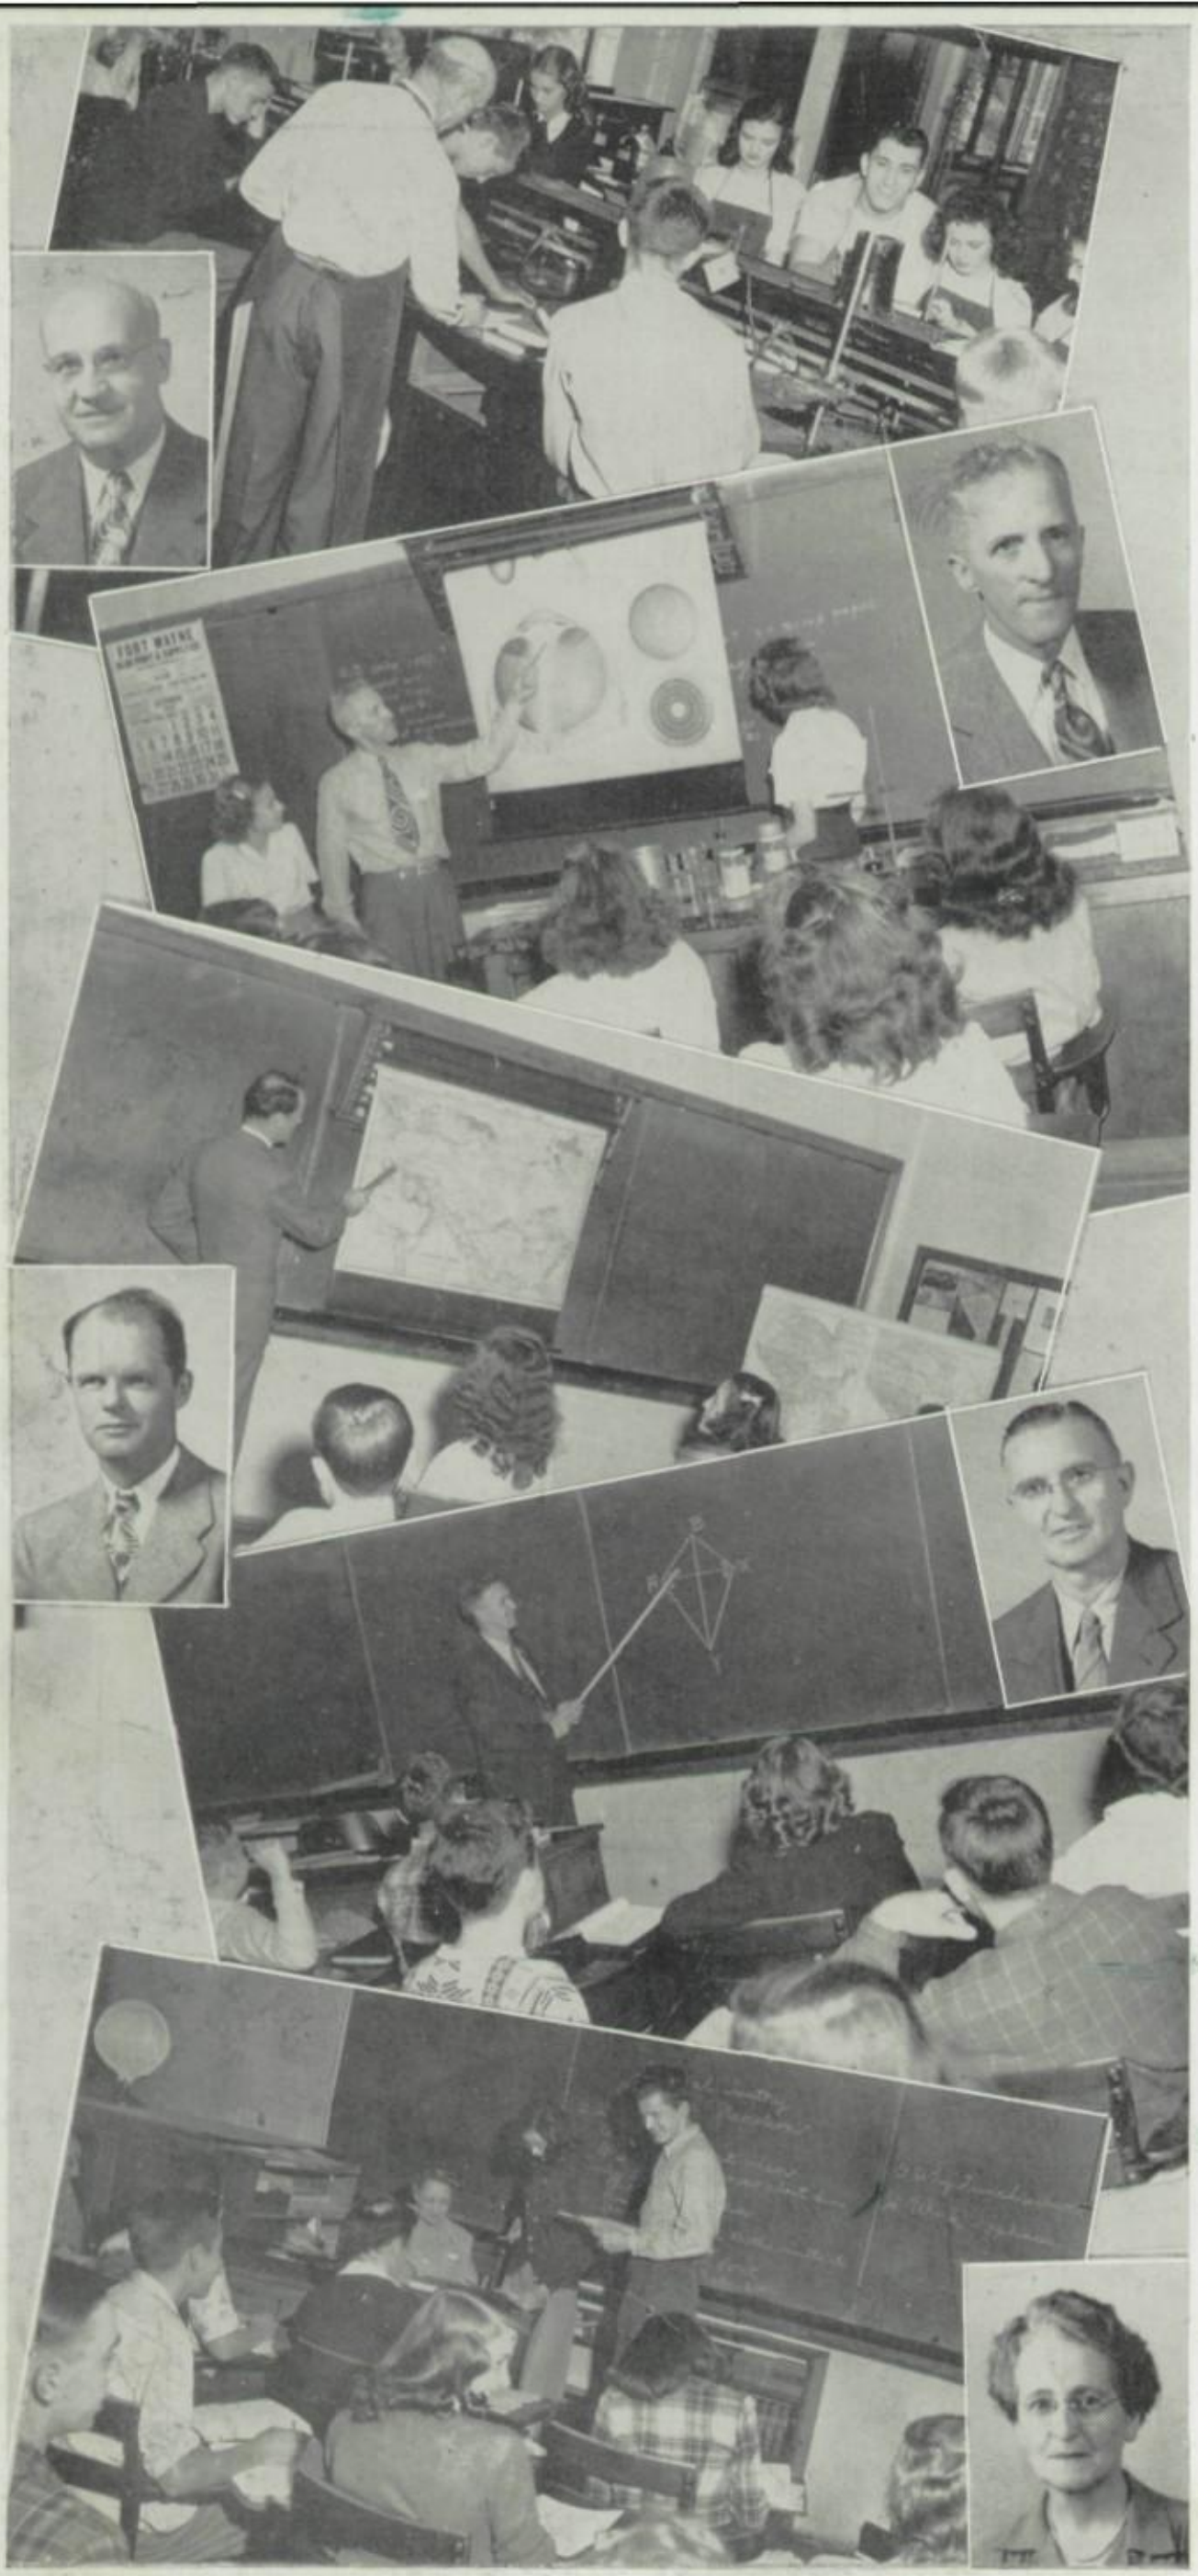
Faculty

A great "part in the management of the place" has been the lot of South Side's teachers. Not only do they teach classes and make out report cards, but they also help in everything from choosing our courses to banking a portion of our money. They show us how valuable school is, and by their example show us what we should strive to be. To them must be ascribed a large portion of South Side's holding power.



Good

Mr. Ward O. Gilbert—Chemistry would really be dull without dynamic "WOG" to teach it.

Mr. Dorsa Yoder—Surrounded by beautiful girls, this efficient instructor can still keep his mind on the teaching of health.

Mr. George Collyer — His fine trackmen are a tribute to his wisdom and know-how.

Ora M. Davis

Mr. Ora Davis—Patient pedagogue of Home Room 10 and respected ruler of the athletic office.

Miss Hazel Miller—Affectionately known as "Mom", this kindly lady has endeared herself to everyone.

Instruction . .

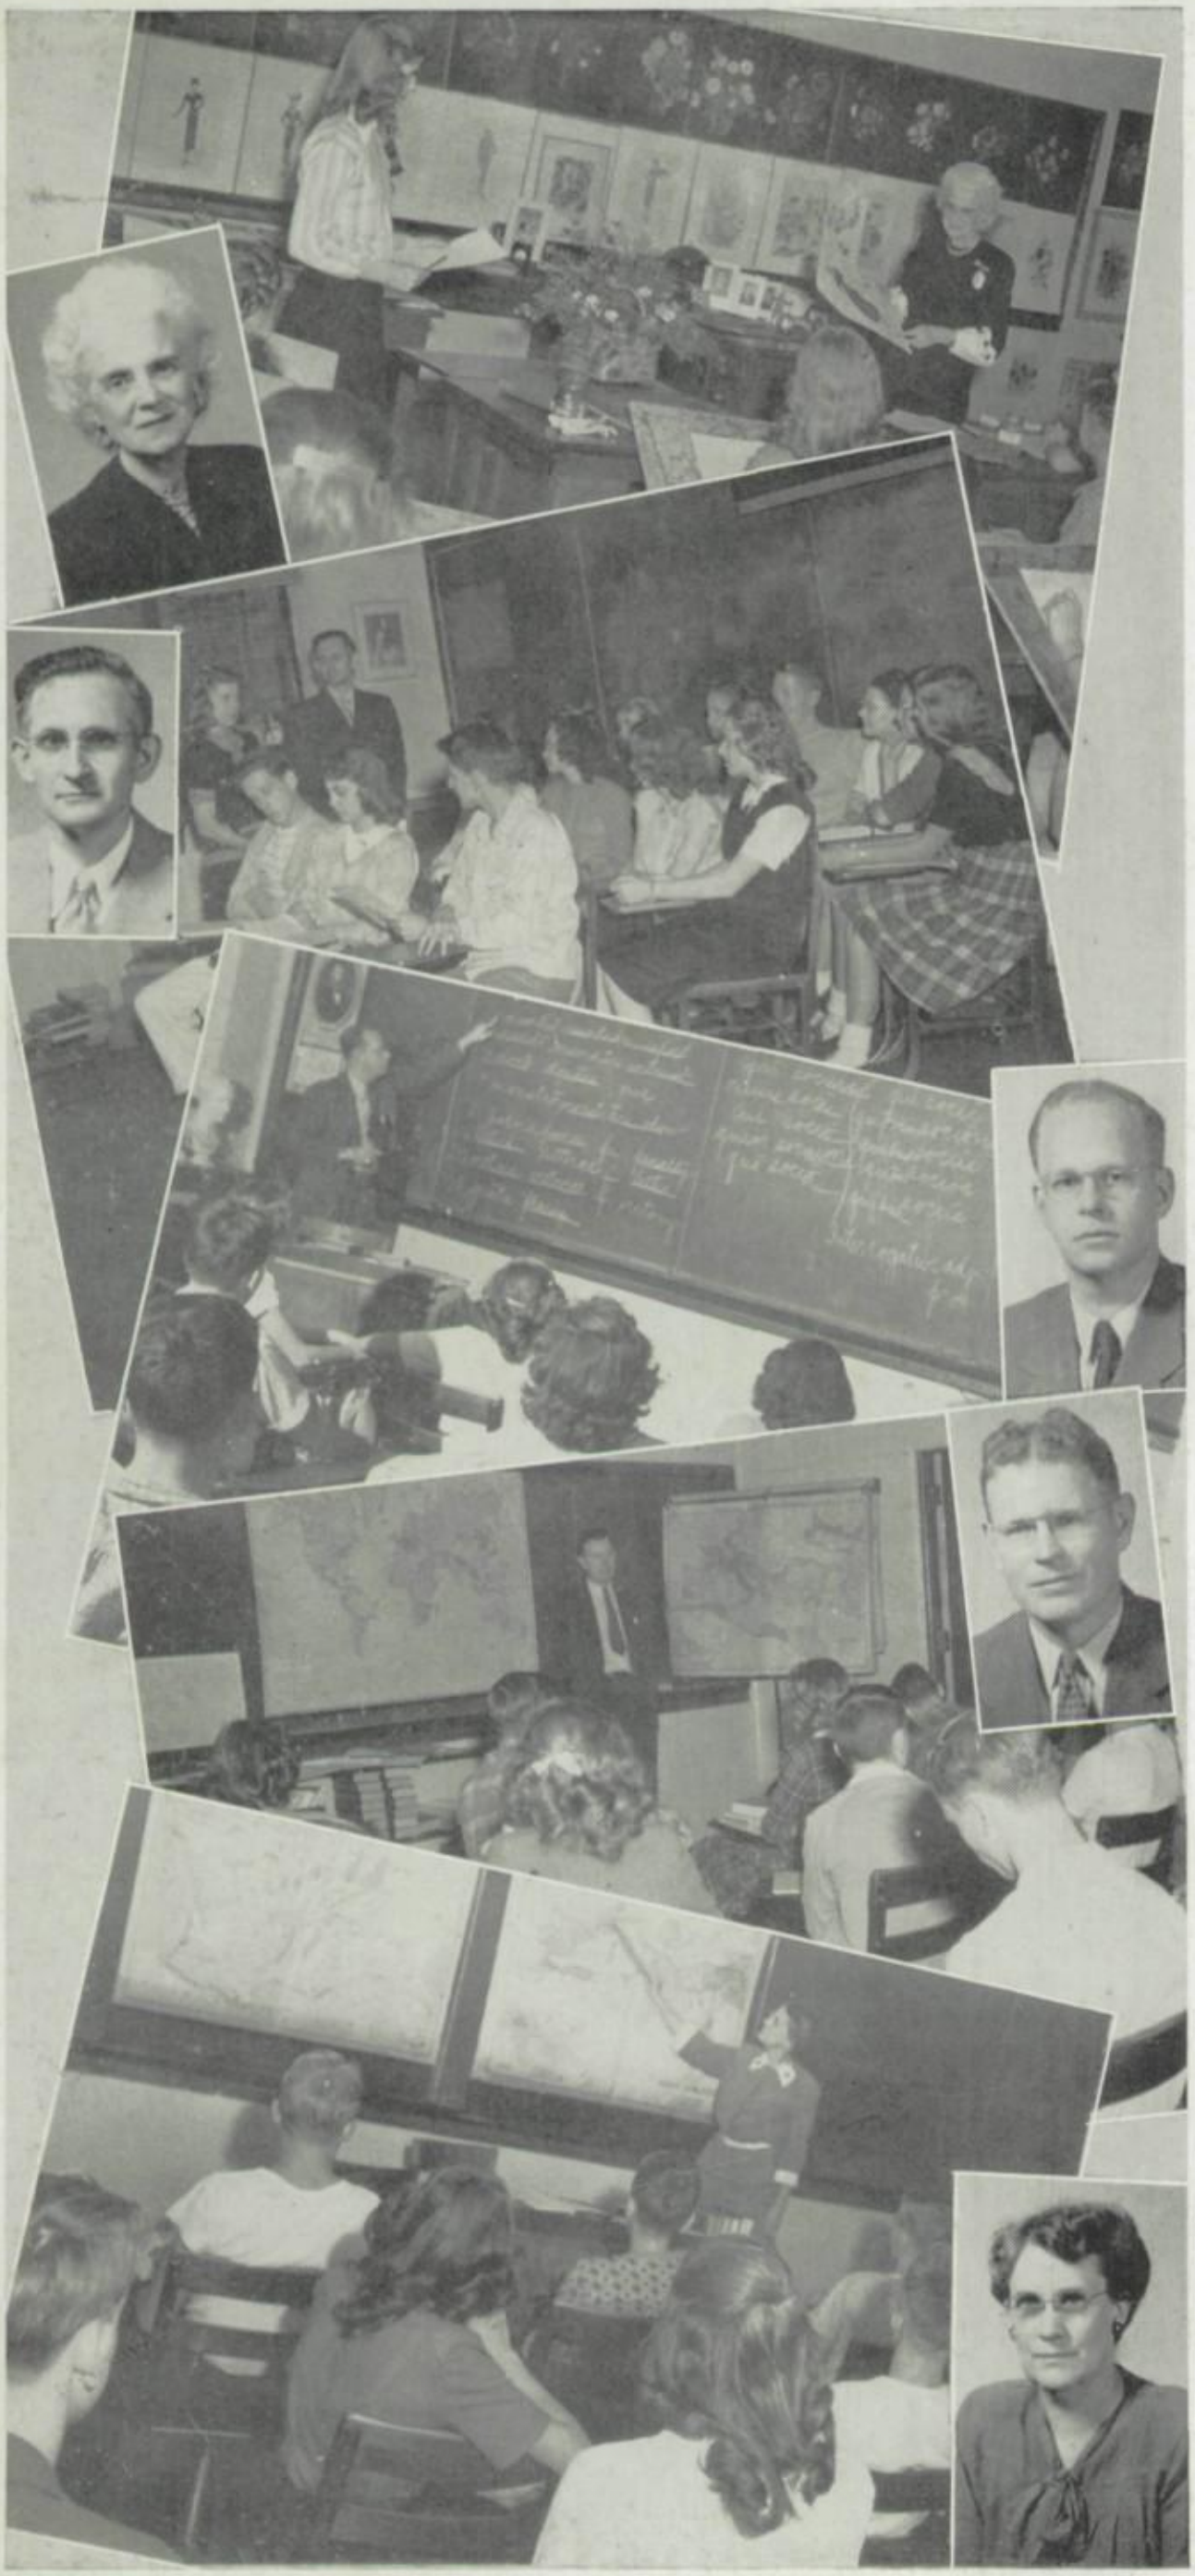
MR. LLOYD K. WHELAN—Acting as an official at basketball games and tending his garden take up the spare time of this fine teacher.

MISS ROWENA HARVEY—"RH" rules the Times Room with an iron hand, but her thoughtful care for the staff ties iron bands around their hearts.

MISS EDITH CROWE — We'll all remember the health classes taught by this friendly and helpful teacher.

MR. GLEN STEBING—A new teacher having great success with a new subject, automobile driving.

MISS AMANDA HEMMER—A fine English teacher who is a friend to everyone in her classes.



Appeal

Miss Erma Dochterman—The matriarch of Home Room 26 has cultivated the talent of many art students.

Mr. Earl Sterner — Cicero was never as popular as when "Squire" is teaching this advanced Latin course.

Mr. Francis Fay—The respected adviser of Rifle Club is also known for his love of Latin and other classics.

Mr. Marion Feasel—"Fease" demonstrated his talent as football coach by winning the city title.

Mrs. Grace Welty—Her students work hard, but they are consistently good.

to Interests...

Miss Lucy Osborne — Capable arranger of our assemblies and the devoted niece of our dean.

Mr. Lester Hostetler—Our choir and chorus director has taught us to appreciate really good music.

Mr. Estal Smuts — This jolly, informal gentleman is the master of the metal shop.

Mr. C. A. Bex—This quiet man is a credit to the industrial arts department.

Mr. Hugh Rice—Our woodshop instructor believes that every boy should be able to use tools well.

Good

Mr. Robert Drummond—His taste in ties is as good as his taste in music for students.

Miss Mabel Thorne—Once a member of a Grenfell mission, one of our best-liked teachers enjoys sharing her experiences and discoveries.

Miss Mary Graham—A South Side alumna who has used her own high school days as an asset in advising the senior class.

Miss Gertrude Oppelt — Our language department owes much to her firm but patient guidance.

Miss Emma Kiefer—Her sense of humor livens every group of which she is a part.

Housing . . .

Miss Susen Peck—The beloved adviser of Meterites enjoys telling her English classes of the eccentricities of authors.

Miss Blanche Hutto—This spirited lady adds the zest and sparkle found in our pep sessions.

Mr. Charles Billiard—This friendly English instructor lends a hand at the games.

Miss Pauline VanGorder — This busy lady does practical research in human relationships in her work at the YWCA.

Miss Beulah Rinehart—For many years adviser of character-building and fun-giving So-Si-Y.

Interesting

Miss Elizabeth Demaree — Hard working English teacher and the capable leader of Philo activities.

Mr. J. H. McClure—"Jake", well-informed government teacher and adviser of the senior class.

Mr. Herman O. Makey—Respected English and math teacher who carefully follows his motto: "The result of good work is more good work to do."

Miss Mary McCloskey—Her sunny garden is a symbol of her fine character.

Miss Crissie Mott — Gracious believer in the art of homemaking and housekeeping.

Subjects . . .

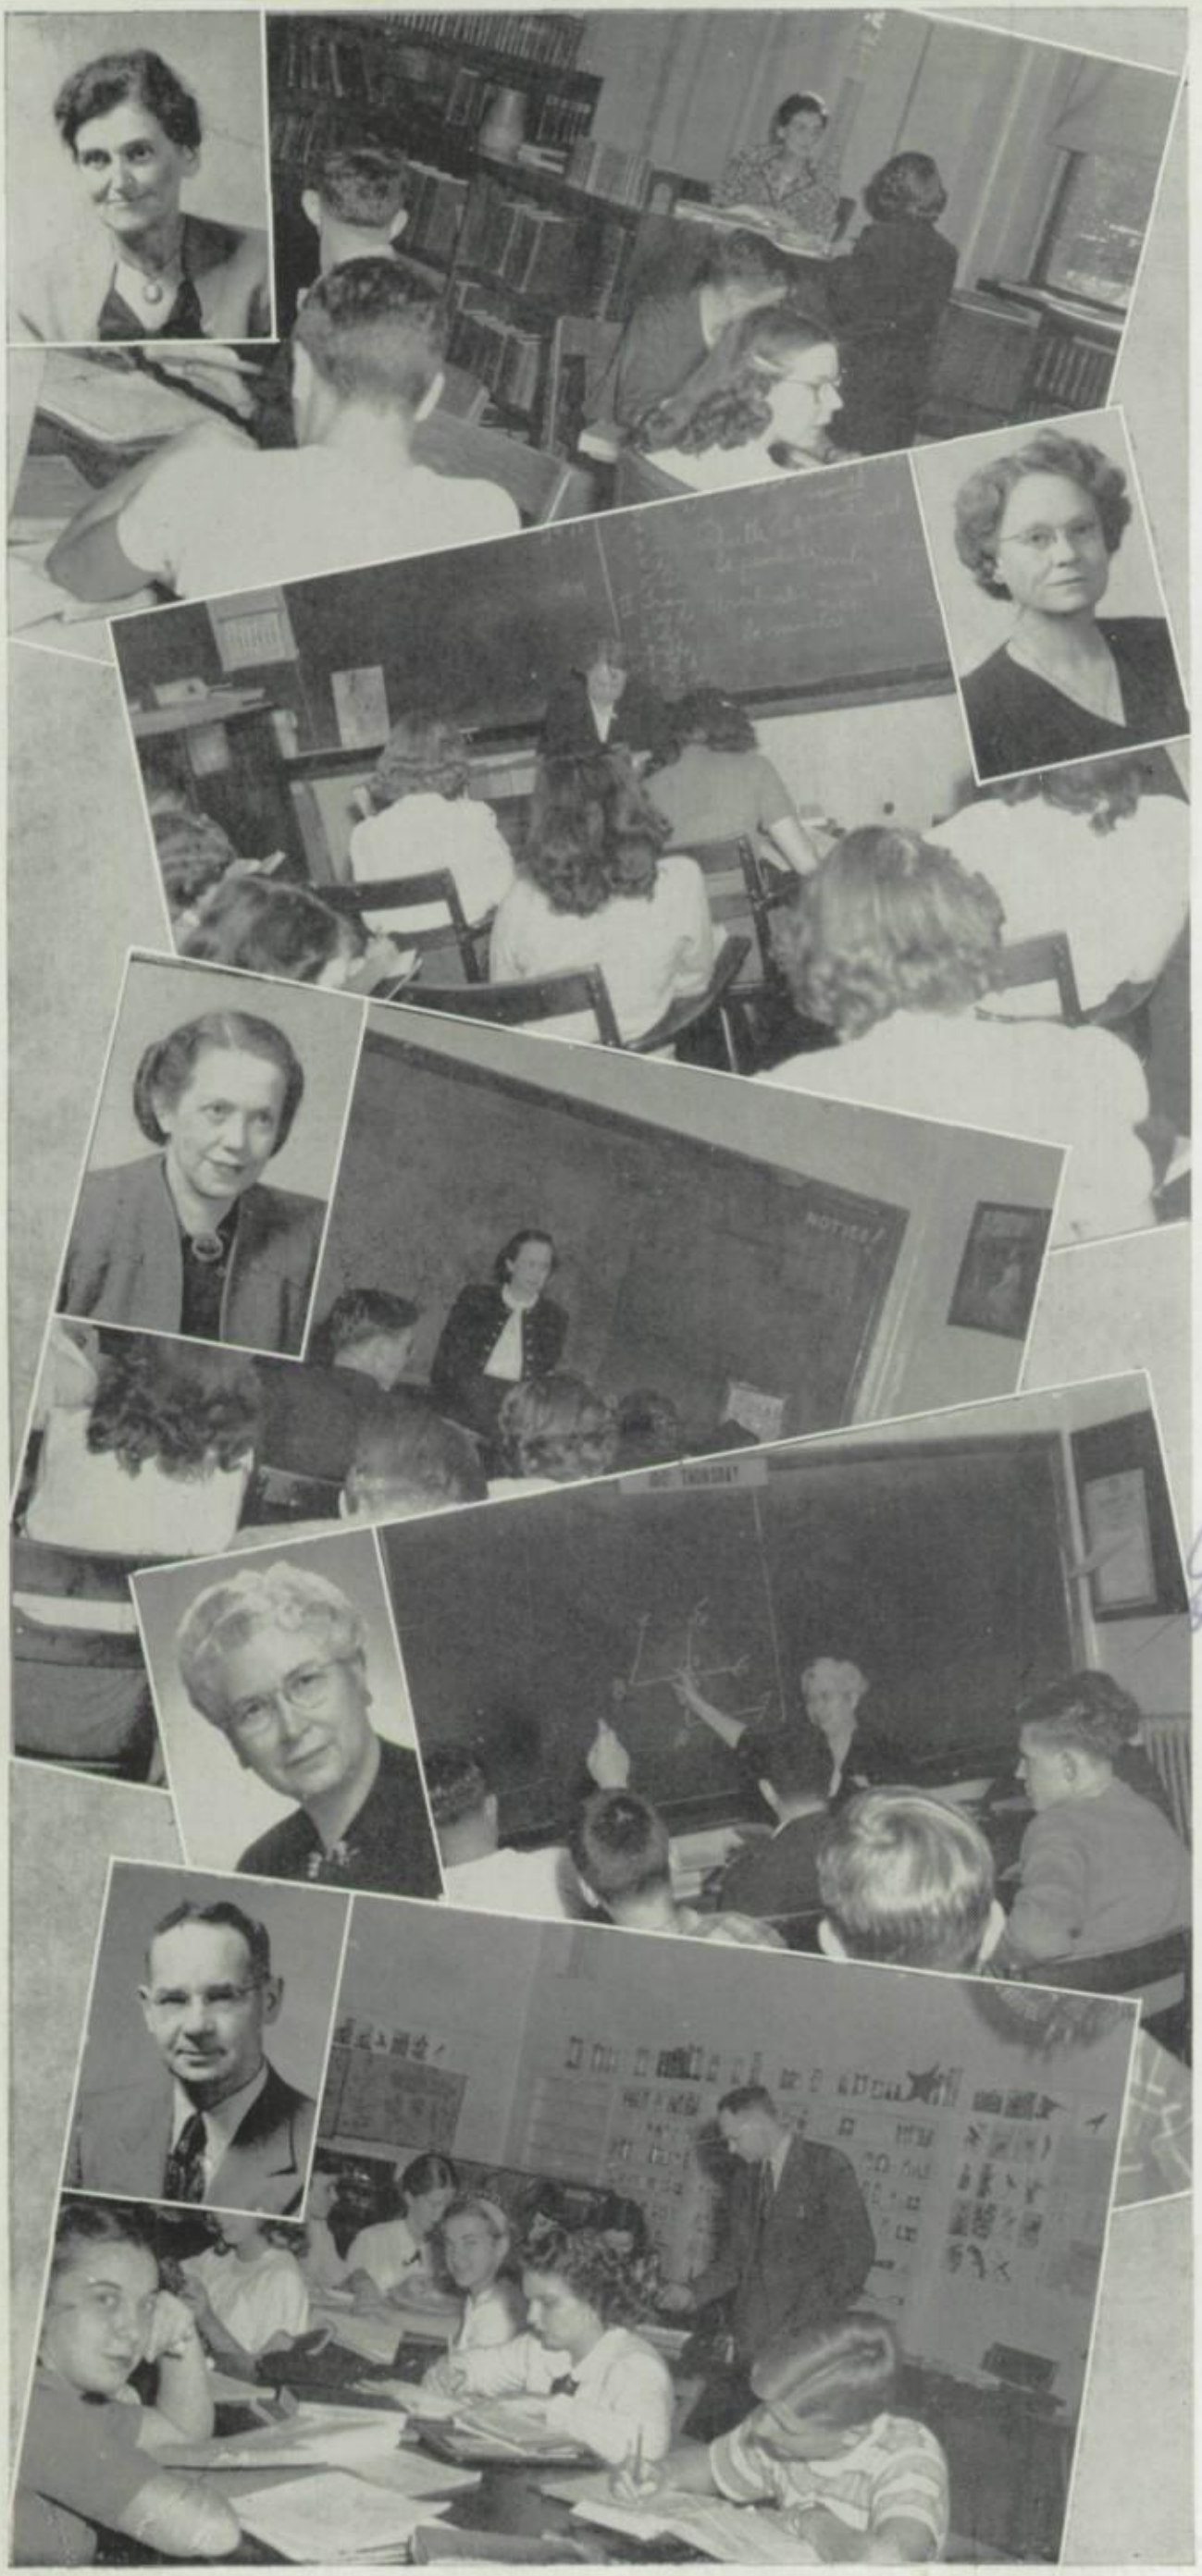
Mr. Elna Gould—A flower lover who has found the way to successfully combine business with pleasure.

Miss Lucy Mellen — In the cafeteria, supervised by her, we learn that vitamins taste good.

Miss Barbara Lief—She is just as pleasant to be with as she is to admire.

Mr. Ralph McClain—Keeper of the keys to the athletic equipment.

Mr. Clyde Peirce—His general history classes are liberally spiced with Allen County geography.



Selective

Miss Emma Shoup — Always calm under any circumstances, our librarian has carved a place of respect for herself.

Miss Olive Perkins—Tales of her travels are fascinating to any student.

Miss RoseMary DeLancey — Her perfect taste and correct manner have earned our lasting admiration.

George Anna Hodgson

Miss George Anna Hodgson — Well-liked former Math-Science adviser who has the conviction to state that all faucets should turn on the same way.

Mr. Albert Heine — The efficient manager of our rental book system has a deep understanding of what might be dry biology.

Courses . . .

MR. LOUIE HULL—Shocking someone, Louie? With your amazing knowledge of physics, of course.

MR. WILBURN WILSON—Capable in understanding and teaching highly important Government II.

MR. MAURICE MURPHY—Social relationships, at which he is adept, are his educational field.

MISS MARGERY SUTER — A highly skilled drama teacher who has contributed her talent to the culture of the community.

MISS PEARL REHORST—Boys, some day you can thank this charming woman for a wife skilled in the art of sewing.

Educational

Mr. Benjamin Null — His subtle humor and efficiency as head of the English department have endeared him to all of us.

Miss Mary Crowe — One teacher who believes her students should be taught more than her own subject, history.

Miss Dorothy Magley—An English teacher who will always remain a friend to all of us.

Miss Mabel Fortney—A jolly math teacher who has taken over part of the reins of USA.

Mr. Delivan Parks — This merry bachelor teaches business fundamentals thoroughly.

Guidance . . .

Mr. Ernest Walker—A combination teacher and photographer who sponsors the Camera Club.

Mr. E. H. Murch—Indiana University Extension has profited along with South Side by his assistance in teaching shorthand.

Mr. Russell Furst—He may not be earning a banker's salary, but he manages the student accounts capably.

Miss Leona Zweig—The smiles in the front row reflect her cheerful aid.

Miss Nell Covalt—Her keen mind, nimble fingers, and charming smile make typing real fun.

Help to Hold

Mr. Stanley Post—No student can sleep when his agile mind explores commercial life.

Miss Adelaide Fiedler—The revered teacher of senior math believes that etiquette applies in school as well as at social functions.

Miss Mary Elizabeth Vandenbark—The application of current events to speech class topics may be noticed in her classes.

Mrs. Lillian Scott — This woman takes good care of many important records and much red tape.

Mr. Louis Briner—Over 250 boys thank him for managing intramural activities.

Us Four Years

Mr. Wayne Scott—Short of stature but long in the know-how of every phase of basketball.

Everett Havens

Mr. Everett Havens—The boys will remember him for his gym classes, the girls for his handsome face.

Helen Pohlmeyer

Miss Helen Pohlmeyer—The grace of our girl dancers may be attributed to this lady.

Miss Alice Keegan — Sharing the hard work of sponsoring GAA and the Spring Show is the work of this Archer pedagogue.

Mrs. Alice Keegan

Holding Together A Big Organization . . .

To all students, especially to those of us who are soon to leave the halls of South Side, it has been the superb leadership of Merle J. Abbett, superintendent of schools, and R. Nelson Snider, principal, that has made these high school days ones which all shall remember for all times.

Mr. Abbett has been the guiding light of Fort Wayne schools since 1931, and his experience and wholehearted interest in the education of school youth are outstanding factors in our success. To him, with the help of the school board, goes the acknowledgment that we are better equipped to face college and the unknown future which lies ahead of us. It is indeed an honor to have such a capable leader at the head of our school system.

Leading South Side's cycle in the orbit of Fort Wayne schools, stands our principal, Mr. R. Nelson Snider. He is the person who is mainly responsible for South's holding power, which is rated near the top throughout the nation. To Mr. Snider goes the honor of leading his students through high school experiences to the realization that they are being sent out into the world as better citizens. The interest with which he discusses all topics students bring before him has been a tremendous help to all Archer students. We are indeed lucky to have a man like Mr. Snider as our school leader.

A school which keeps such a firm grasp upon its students as ours does demands a dean with a keen insight into the problems and needs of young people. We have that person in capable and sympathetic Miss Martha Pittenger. The personal interest she takes in each one of us contributes much to character and personality development. Our friendly counselor deserves much credit for the many services she gives us.

Our industrious general office secretaries, Garneta Swank and Marquita Baker Yager, competently manage the innumerable business matters at South Side. The sparkling smiles of these neat and efficient graduates make dealing with them a pleasure.

Whether it is advice for college preparation or business careers, Mr. Paul Sidell, our guidance director, is prepared to give us excellent counsel. His cheerful personality has won him many friends, while his ability to advise students on program arrangement has caused many to stay in school.

Best of Luck to a gre

"Cleanliness is indeed next to godliness." This is the motto of the men brandishing brooms about South Side High School. Theirs is an unsung glory, for little is heard about the services they bestow on our four-year home. Their efficiency plays an important part in the performance of the scholastic and social activities conducted here. Certainly their endeavoring to make the school as pleasant as possible has been a success. So for a change, here is a bravo from the students at South Side to their loyal friends, the janitors.

Most South Siders have come in contact with the matrons pictured at the right. Their kindly smiles are two of the most welcome features here. For their patience and service, these friendly ladies certainly deserve a medal.

On the men pictured below, we owe our thanks for printing a readable school paper and yearbook. Not only are they pleased with the finished product, as their smiles show in the picture; but the students also heartily commend the efficiency of the printing staff.

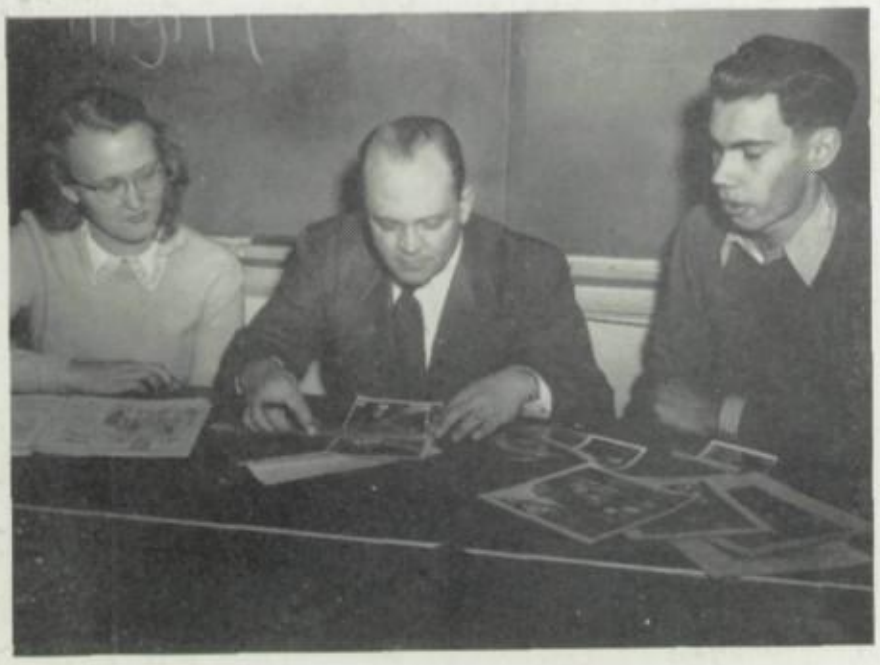
Activities

"We soon became warmly attached to it," for we discovered many activities that were ready to spur us on to greater accomplishments and goals. All the activities found here lent themselves to achieving the friendly relationships and chances for leadership that help keep students at South Side High School.

Journalism In Action



At the left: These are two of the students who have worked hardest on our 1948 Totem. Lucille Mangels and Marshall Lincoln, co-editors, turn over pictures to Virgil Montague of the Fort Wayne Engraving Co.

The Totem office is a very business-like nook in Room 16. Along with a little fun, copy and pictures are turned out to meet very definite deadlines. To enforce this are the two co-editors, Lucille Mangels and Marshall Lincoln; and if necessary Miss Harvey, adviser, uses her "persuasive" powers along this line.

While the Totem is being assembled and perfected, the business staff, headed by Joyce Lakey, must keep a strict account of the money involved and of the sales of the Totem, for which this staff is also responsible. The Fort Wayne Engraving Company made the cuts and the William Didier and Sons Printing Company printed the book. And finally the finished books are distributed during study, between class, and after school.

This is not the finis of the story of the 1948 Totem. In 1980 John Smith, '48, and his wife Mary Jones Smith, '48, will remember the Senior Dance, Ivy Day, and Commencement from the pages of the South Side yearbook of 1948, The Totem.

Below: John Suelzer, Dick Bonsib, and Bill Marks worked with film and flashbulbs to produce some of the photos for the Totem. Co-editor Marshall Lincoln doubled as photographer, being responsible for most of the shots. The photo staff spent much of its time attending school events that would not ordinarily concern it, such as GAA, Philo, and So-Si-Y, to better our yearbook.

Attracts Workers

Practical Newspaper Ties Students

Hard, constant work goes into making our Times staff consistent producers of a first-class newspaper; but fun is not forgotten, as witnessed by the annual picnic. We have shown our approval by subscribing 100 per cent. Again this year The Times received the highest awards possible in the national contests, NSPA, CSPA, and Quill and Scroll, and in the state contests. The Times is now twenty-six years old, during which time it has maintained the highest rank in the country.

Top: Four seniors who have served as general managers of The Times remember past problems with Miss Harvey. From left to right: Mary Muller, Jeanne Manning, Marilyn Rockhill, and Jerry Ellis.

Bottom right: The circulation leaders, all of whom had 100 per cent home rooms the first day of the semester are, first row, Joella Seibert, Ellyn Heine, and Helen Bennett; second row, Frances Waterfield, Martha Fulton, Gloria Klopfenstein, and Carol Sielaff. Joella Seibert brought in the most subscriptions on the opening day of the campaign, while Helen Bennett, Frances Waterfield, and Carol Sielaff tied for second.

Experience to South Side

Bottom: Another gala event for student journalists was the trip to the thirteenth annual high school journalism conference at Butler University made by a group from the Times and Totem staffs. The boys in the front row are admiring the trophy won by The Times as being the best high school newspaper in Indiana having over 1,000 enrollment.

Music Hath Charms . . .

To broaden the students' knowledge of really fine music, the orchestra has provided very fine concerts. Under Mr. Robert Drummond's direction, it has taken part in an all-city concert.

Usually held by an upperclassman, the position of concert mistress was capably filled this year by sophomore Lorraine Frykberg. This year, for the first time, a class in music appreciation has been given to the orchestra members.

Made up of fourteen stringed instruments, the string ensemble has played for PTA teas, the music department Christmas party, and several assemblies.

The orchestra collaborated with the band and choir to present two important social events this year, the dance after the Muncie Burris basketball game, January 31, and the music department Christmas party, December 17.

Besides furnishing the school with classical and semi-classical music, the orchestra members have their own very enjoyable social events.

At the left, Phyllis Shinn, whose piano playing is always in great demand by enthusiastic Archers, and Lorraine Frykberg, capable concert mistress, are poised for action. In the center is the string ensemble. At the right is Mr. Robert Drummond.

. . . That Attract Students

The band, under its new leader, Mr. Drummond, took part in the Fire Prevention Week program outside school as well as pep sessions, football and basketball games, regular assemblies, and the music assemblies. On January 16 the members were guests at Huntington for the basketball game.

The performances of the marching band during the year's football season were especially outstanding, but the novel patterns did not just happen. Much work was required by our enlarged majorette squad joined with the band.

Officers for the fall semester were Tom Archer, captain; Marc Ralston, lieutenant; Martha Chambers, librarian; and Sonia Evanoff, secretary. Those for the spring semester were Paul Richter, captain; Bill Jones, quartermaster; Nancy Evans, librarian; and Sonia Evanoff, secretary.

The Finest of Music . . .

Besides providing the excellent music for our assemblies, the Vesper Choir, directed by Mr. Lester Hostetler, performed for church memberships, industrial parties, and civic groups, such as the Chamber of Commerce.

The sixty-one voice choir had this year's performances highlighted by the work of Nancy VonGunten, accompanist; Phyllis Schonefeld, assistant accompanist, and Dorcas MacKay, accompanist and piano soloist. Marilyn Stettler and Connie Weisman sang all the solo parts this year.

South Side's Clubs . . .

Here are two clubs which devote their time to service for the school, the Student Players Club and the Library Club. In these organizations every member has the opportunity to do something for the other members and the rest of the students. SPC is in charge of the annual presentation of the Junior and Senior One-Acts and the Senior Play. The Library Club keeps the school's books in proper order and issues them for the students' use.

These nine speech students participated in one of a series of School of the Air radio programs over station WGL. These programs followed the general theme, "Learning To Live Together." Pictured from left to right are Clayton Ellenwood, Rosemary Liechty, Jim Martin, Mary Helen Mitchell, Wayne Jarvis, Ruth Thomson, Paul Mutschlecner, Keith Clauser, and Cynthia Connell.

Helen Bennett and Carol Sielaff listen to Carol Gipe giving her contribution to the Freshman-Sophomore speech contest. This annual Wranglers' contest had given many of us valuable experience. Susan McNabb and Ivan Lebamoff tied for first place in the sophomore division. Dick Johnson emerged first in the freshman section.

Self Expression ...

To create a love for good literature and promote friendship are the chief aims of the Meterites and Philo. Whoever joins these clubs receives a feeling of belonging, which is so important to every girl.

Activities such as poetry contests, musicales, plays, and book reviews comprise most of the clubs' activities, but special events such as the Philo and Meterite Mother-Daughter Teas, the annual Christmas Party, and Senior Day meeting are anticipated with enthusiasm. Lastly, much fun was received from sponsoring the "Touchdown Twirl" and "Hearts in Harmony", after-game dances.

Center left: These pretty lasses all dressed up in formals were Meterites' representatives at the Twenty-fifth Anniversary Banquet.

Leadership,

Every student who does service work around school—working for a teacher, guarding one of the locker rooms, or working in one of the offices—is a member of the Service Club. South Side girls who are interested in home-making may join the Worthy Home Makers, known as Wo-Ho-Ma.

Good Character . . .

Math-Science, Rifle, and Camera Clubs all aim to give their members instruction not found in ordinary classroom courses. Math-Sci shows the applications of all the theory we get in math and science classes. Rifle Club teaches boys the art of correctly caring for and using a rifle. Camera Club members learn every possible phase of photography.

Upper left: Mr. Robert Dreisbach, chief engineer of the Radio Division of the Magnavox Company, talks to Math-Science about the making and reproduction of phonograph records.

Upper right: Rifle Club members Jim Fuelling, Jerry Ellis, Gene Myers, and Frank Fleischer demonstrate the correct way to hold a rifle in each of the various shooting positions.

Lower left: Camera Club tries its skill by photographing the very young model seen under the tree.

Archers Celebrate Silver Anniversary

Climaxing our twenty-fifth anniversary was this colorful and unusual assembly in which over 300 Kellys participated. The theme of the entire program was taken from the plaque on the northeast corner of the school, which tells the purpose and real object of education. Mrs. Rieke narrated the program, which was divided into three parts. A public performance was given in the evening.

Upper left: Some of our Kelly teachers in their black satin robes. Upper right: Graduates in the armed forces return to strike the note of dignity, for they served in the war that youth might keep the way of life. Sports

"Desiring to do it credit," every team this year has fought well. In the stands, too, South Siders have tried to do the school credit. With every phase of sports we have learned more about the spirit of this school; we have seen an inkling of the many reasons we are willing to stay in South Side for four years.

Assistant Coach Glen Stebing and Coach Marion Feasel

City Champs!

The record of the 1947 Archer football eleven is:

South Side	7,	Toledo Scott	26
South Side	13,	Bluffton	6
South Side	13,	Peru	6
South Side	12,	South Bend Adams	14
South Side	27,	North Side	12
South Side	13,	Central Catholic	6
South Side	14,	Elkhart	19
South Side	12,	Central	7

Climaxing the season with a great display of power, South Side's 1947 football squad, under Coach Marion Feasel, marched decisively through a tough schedule to a five-three record and the undisputed city gridiron crown. At mid-season the Archer gridders were decidedly the underdogs in the city race, but one by one Summit City rivals fell before the onslaught of the truly inspired Green machine. North Side first fell victim on October 11, and the highly touted Irish of Central Catholic and the Tigers of Central quickly followed the Redskins to defeat.

It was their balance and aggressive spirit that brought the Kellys to the fore; the Archers displayed this spirit even in the year's initial contest against Toledo Scott. Having gained experience from their loss at Toledo, the Kellys whipped a rugged Bluffton squad and an even tougher Peru team on successive Saturdays. Following a heart-breaking defeat at South Bend, South trounced North Side and Central Catholic, and after another toughie against Elkhart, the City Champs blasted the Blue of Central.

Then the boys reaped the benefits of their hard work. Banquets were given in their honor and several boys walked off with additional honors on all-city elevens.

It was undoubtedly that old Archer spirit and will to win that carried the squad through to the city title; and so, hats off to Coach Marion Feasel and to his City Champs for a great season.

Coach Wayne Scott

Hardwood Headliners

South Side's Archers under the able tutelage of Wayne Scott came up with one of the greatest basketball teams in all Kelly history in the 1947-1948 season, a team that not only compiled a 17-4 record for the year, including the copping of the Marion holiday tourney trophy, but even won state-wide recognition. Truly, never did a team clad in the Archer Green and White display such balance, such teamwork, such spirit, and such sportsmanship as did this year's South Side squad.

A credit to the school were such boys as playmaker and scoring leader Gordie Stauffer, rebounding Bob Mossman, ball-hawking Bill Bower, sharpshooting Keith Clauser, and all-around floor man Gerald Goodwin. It was the great work of these boys along with Bobby Nye, Don Rodenbeck, DeNeal Hartman, Fritz Schulz, Doug Lawrence, Bill Beery, and Paul Underwood as a unit that led to the brilliant play and sparkling record of these Kelly cagers.

Getting off to a fine start, South bested four opponents before losing a thriller to LaPorte, then played beautiful ball the rest of the season dropping close ones only to North Side and Central, to win a second-place berth in the city series race. After closing the season with an amazingly easy victory over Indianapolis Shortridge, this fine South team went down in defeat in the tournament before a keyed-up Concordia five in the king of heart-breakers. It was the most topsy-turvy tourney in Fort Wayne history that saw the breaks fall the wrong way and that eventually saw not four but all five city teams eliminated.

In every all-city squad chosen by sports authorities, Stauffer, Mossman, and Bower won honorary berths, a fitting climax to a successful season. But neither the holiday tournament trophy nor the wonderful record compiled by this great South team speak enough praise for Coach Scott's 1947-48 basketball squad.

Many of the Kelly fans, as shown in the lower left, go in for Coca-Colas at half-time.

Cinder Track Addicts

In 1947 South Side once again turned out a superior track team which climaxed its brilliant season by capturing a second place in the annual Sectional track meet held at North Side.

The track squad, comprised of nearly thirty students, went undefeated in all dual and triangular meet competition. During the first part of the season, the Kelly team turned in wins over Central, Central Catholic, and Garrett. Then the opponents became more rugged, but the Green dropped Concordia, Decatur, and Mishawaka.

The Kelly school produced trackmen who turned in very good times or jumps in their respective events. Among these were Bob Johnson in the mile, Gerald Goodwin in the pole vault, Virgil Shane in the half-mile, Dick Mayer in the 440-yard dash, Ted Thieme in the 100- and 200-yard dashes, Bill Beery in the broad jump and high jump, Ed Roth in the shot put, and Keith Darby in the 100- and 220-yard dashes.

In following the Northerners to the post position in the Sectionals, South Side was able to send two men down to the state finals at Indianapolis. The two who qualified in the Sectionals were Bob Johnson in the mile, and Ed Roth in the shot put. The best Bob could do in the mile was a fifth place while Ed didn't quite qualify in the shot.

For the second straight year, South Side has had a varsity cross-country squad. After the Green had done excellent jobs in their meets with individual teams, they came in third in the Sectional behind North Side and Garrett. This time the Archers were able to qualify only one boy for the state meet, this one being Tom Jones. There Tom finished a good twenty-third behind the best in the state.

So the track team finished one of their better seasons, and this year's tracksters are planning on following in their footsteps. For up to the time of the printing of this Totem, the Archers decisively defeated an inexperienced Concordia Cadet squad by the large margin of 84 to 25.

Coach Collyer claims he has high hopes for his harrier squad of this year, and believes he has a better-balanced team than the one that copped second in the Sectionals last year.

Good luck to a very putty girl. You have a lot of pizzazz Bruce Coe

Improving Students' Health

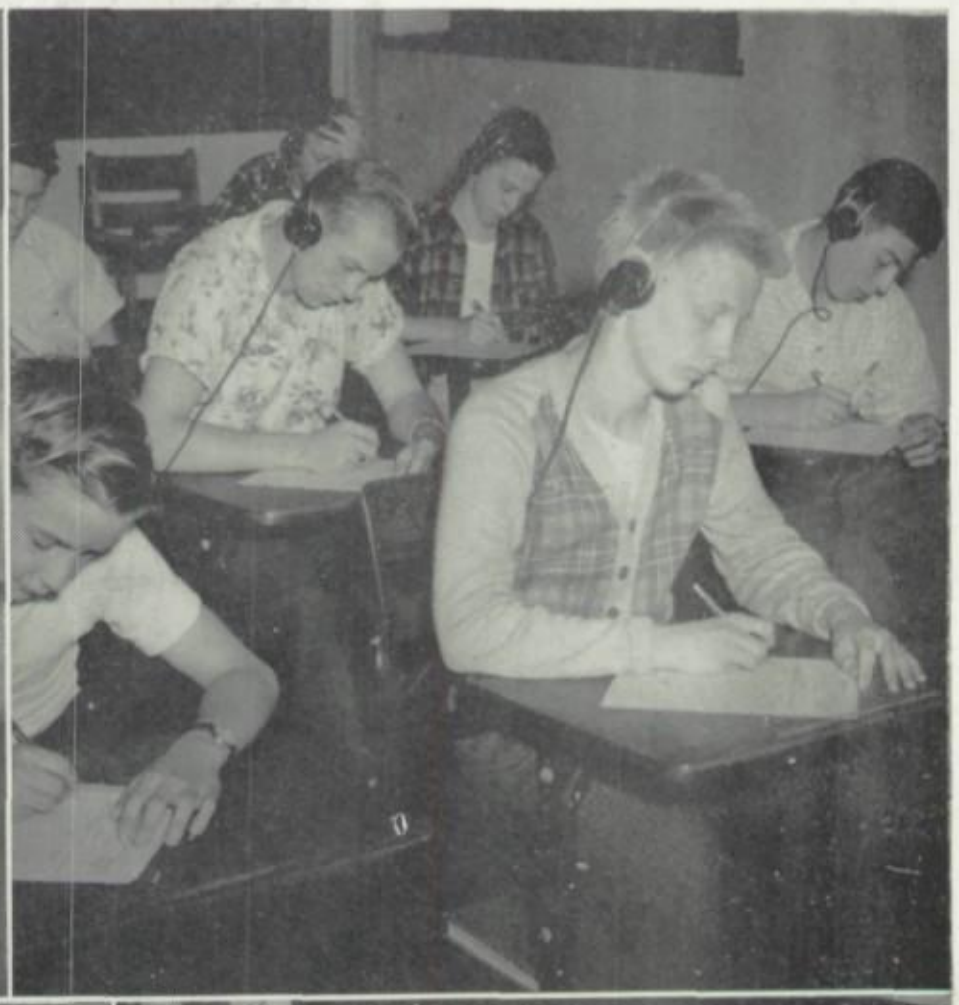
Lower left: Better hearing means better grades in most cases, and Mr. Lloyd Way is doing his part to improve grades with pitch-testing.

Lower right: As education is an important part of health promotion, this audience will be better able to care for itself because of Dr. Gah T. Bower's instructions.



Keeps Them In School

Physically fit students have the stamina to continue at South Side. Under the program of the health department, each Archer can have a health checkup.

Album

Having "learnt with a good will" in every class, we have progressed to the place where we are finally ready to receive the coveted diploma. We have found that receiving an education is not merely a succession of books, but a series of interesting classes, enlivened by the faculty as well as the loved classmates we find pictured on the following pages.

Fourth row: Joseph Gold, Mary Helen Haycock, James Hostetter, Joyce Lakey, Marshall Lincoln, Joan Lud Lucille Mangels.

Each year not more than fifteen per cent of the graduating class at South Side is chosen for membership in the National Honor Society. Students are chosen by the faculty on the basis of Scholarship, Character, Leadership, and Service.

Another list of names appearing each spring is the Four Year Honor Roll, which consists of all students who have maintained an average of at least ninety per cent for at least three years spent here, or in any Fort Wayne public high school.

ROBERT MOSSMAN
Valedictorian

Robert Mossman, with a four-year average of 97.34, is the valedictorian of the senior class of 1948. He has an average which is next to the highest in South Side's 26 years, and is an all-round student in every respect. Bo took first place in the district in the geometry, algebra 3, and college algebra tests conducted by Indiana University. He also won honorable mention in the state comprehensive math test. Bob served as class president for three years. He earned three letters by playing center on the varsity for the last two years. He was president of Lettermen's Club. He was sergeant-at-arms of the South Side Hi-Y group and president of the fourth district. Bo was a sports writer on the Times and earned his 1500 Club bronze pin. He was elected to National Honor Society.

JOAN LUDWIG
Salutatorian

Joan Ludwig was named salutatorian of the class of '48 because of her four-year average of 95.88. She, also, has a good high school record in every respect. She was vice-president of Wranglers and active in various speech activities. She was a member of Meterites, from which she was graduated with an honor diploma into Philo, where she served as treasurer. Joan was active in Student Players' Club and played roles in the Junior-Senior One Acts and the Senior Play. In publications work she worked in several departments on The Times and served as junior class editor for The Totem. She received her gold-jeweled 1500 Club pin and was elected to Quill and Scroll Society. She was a member of Service Club and won three service pins for her work. She was elected to National Honor Society.

Great Holding Power Social . . .

Leaving South Side after four wonderful years together brings to every senior a touch of sorrow; but it makes us glad, too, that we have stayed to share the many activities of our class. When we first entered South Side our senior year seemed to be far in the future.

First thing we knew, however, we were planning our first big event, the Sophomore Party. "I'm Forever Blowing Bubbles" was the theme appropriately carried out thanks to Miss Lucy Osborne and Mr. Earl Sterner, our very capable class advisers. Then came our junior year and the very good times at the "Junior Jubilee" and "Starlight Waltz", our banquet and prom. How can we ever thank Miss Hazel Miller and Mr. Lloyd K. Whelan sufficiently for their help and advice that year?

We cherish most the memories of our last year here at South Side. Parents, teachers, and students got better acquainted at the Senior Reception, while we renewed old friendships at the Alumni Dance. We then reminisced over "The Best Years of Our Lives" at the very enjoyable Senior Banquet. The Senior Play was a great success, and we finally got to witness the planting of the ivy at the long awaited Ivy Day ceremonies.

Our last weeks were very busy with Recognition Day, Baccalaureate Services, and the Senior Dance. Our commencement exercises brought to an end our high school days and started us out into our future life truly inspired.

Who made these years so unforgettable? There were our very carefully and wisely selected class officers; our prexy for three years, Bob Mossman; our vice-president Gordie Stauffer, also captain of our basketball team; Tom Archer, our secretary-treasurer of piano fame; and our three outstanding social councilmen, Sue Brudi, Bob Nye, and Bill Ashman. Along with the good judgment and assistance of Miss Mary Graham and Mr. Jake McClure, they have made our senior year one not to be forgotten.. There were others—outstanding speakers, journalists, and musicians—all attaining high honors in their fields.

The success of our four years is a tribute to our school and the people who run it, a school that offers so much we feel privileged to work and play here for four years.

Popular Products

Wisely you voted, laboriously we counted, and here are the results. After four years of experience, 340 seniors should be right.

At left: To earn his title of perfect gentleman, Bill Ashman lends a helping hand to the perfect lady, Norma Jenney, with her load of books. Of course, he has the hard job of carrying that familiar pencil behind his ear.

At left: These four beaming seniors, Bob Mossman, Bill Wilks, Pat Close, and Sue Brudi look mighty pleased about their honors. Sue and Bill were named the best speakers, and Sue, also, most likely to succeed. Pat and Bob are considered to have done the most for the school, and Bob shares with Sue the title of most likely to succeed.

Lower left: Getting pointers on how to stay as pretty as they are, are Nancy Gordon, right, voted cutest girl, and Mariann Gilbert, who was a very close second to Nancy.

Below: By an overwhelming majority, Bev Yates and Gordon Stauffer took the honors of being the cutest couple. Gordie was also voted the handsomest boy.

of Peculiar Power

At right: Jayne Ade and Bill Kempf are demonstrating their rating as best dancers by "cutting a rug."

At right: From Bach to Boogie, Phyllis Shinn and Tom Archer rate as the best musicians.

To a swell girl I've known for quite a while. Lots of luck always. Tom Archer

Lower right: Chin on hand, Phyllis Miller and Bob Nye concentrate on their next crucial play in this close game of checkers. It is anybody's game between these two chosen as best athletes.

Below: Will she hit him? With her personality, how could she miss? Marcia Mast and Jim Ketchem rate highest in the personality department.

Marianne: - We've had lots of fun together in the Athletic Office! Will you ever run out of boyfriends or secrets to tell Rosie? Here's hoping you always have gobs of them and gobs of luck.

Glad To Stay Another Year

Now to the class of '49 that is just about ready to burst into its senior year with all the ability and talent it displayed as juniors! Although many memorable things happened during the junior year, the highlights this year were the "Chinese Festival," their own Junior Banquet, and the Junior Prom, which is always one of the nicest traditional affairs at South Side.

Above are the leaders of the junior class and their capable advisers. Seated from left to right are Beach Hall, social council; Mrs. Alice Keegan, adviser; Bonnie Schemehorn, vice-president; Mr. Earl Sterner, adviser; Bill Beery, president; and Paul Underwood, social council. The two lads standing are Dick Brett, secretary; and Doug Lawrence, social council.

Center right: Tina Lazoff and George Lavengood must make a beautiful couple on the dance floor because Tina has the title of the best girl dancer and George has won the title of the best boy dancer.

Bottom: Rollie Miller has won the envied honors for the handsomest boy in the junior class. Bonnie Schemehorn is in just about the same category, for she was chosen to carry the crowns for the girl with the best personality and the cutest girl. Dick Brett was named the junior boy with the best personality.

Row 9: Ronald Clark, Joan Clibon.

Row 10: Wendel Cook, Cynthia Connell.

Dick Jenkins seems to be trying to put over a big yarn, but his two companions do not appear too convinced. Incidentally, the gal certainly has beauteous golden locks!

"Meet me in the study hall after seventh" is a familiar phrase in Kellyland. The proof of the pudding is in the picture of Tom Whiting, Shirley Ruby, Donna Stine, Lois Lagemann, Bill Pierce, and another gal whose identity is unknown.

P.S. Does Tom Whiting always read his literature book upside down? The kids are getting a big kick out of it anyway.

Row 8: Marilyn Shane, Margaret Shidler.

Row 9: Rita Siegfred, Lou Ann Seng.

Row 10: Jan Smith, Ruth Ann Smith.

Miller's is a right popular hangout for Archers after school. They get a lot of "social" work done and some school work, too. Marshall Warshauer, Bob Nye, Don Jung, Tom Kerr, Don Erwin, and possibly Dave Gossman offer good proof of it. Don was just about ready to say something.

Jean Springer and Rose Marie Maggart are very busy signing their names to each other's Totems. Giles Morrill seems to be in the process of pulling something very important from his locker. Totem maybe? Your guess is as good as ours for the other lads in the picture. More of this "back" photography!

This year, for the first time, the Class of 1950 has chosen its class officers. Above, seated from left to right enjoying an afternoon treat at Millers', are Duncan Whitaker, social council; Jerry Dreisbach, social council; Helen Bennett, president; Miss Helen Pohlmeyer, class adviser; and John Koomjohn, secretary-treasurer. Standing are Arnold Hoffman, vice-president; and Everett Tunget, social council. Mr. Ernest Walker, class adviser, was absent when the picture was taken.

Heading the list of sophomore poll winners are Susan McNabb and Ivan Lebamoff, who rate tops as best speakers. Doing a little practicing at the extreme right are talented Sonia Evanoff and Bob Voelkel, who have taken the honors as best musicians.

Teamed together are Ann Koenecke and Merle Hettler, who have run away with the titles of best girl and boy athletes.

In the group pictured below is Arnold Hoffman, at the extreme left, who was recognized for his sparkling personality and composes half of the sophomore class' cutest couple.

Leaning over the table is Dean Smith, whose good looks have won him the handsomest lad crown.

The popular soph president, Helen Bennett, has been chosen the most perfect lady, the girl with the best personality, the cutest lassie, and the best girl dancer, besides being the other half of the cutest couple. She really seems to be tops in her class, and certainly deserves every honor she has gotten this year.

Standing, right, is friendly Ronnie Stauffer who was voted the best dancer by his classmates. And last is courteous Jim Reinhart, who certainly deserves the title of the most perfect gentleman.

Row 1: Nancy Agnew, Wally Allen, Jackie Amstutz, Patty Andorfer, Diane Angold, Lois Augsburger, Paul Baker.

Row 2: Lois Barnes, Warren Barnett, Nancy Barr, Cathy Batzner, Beverly Bauer, Jerry Beemer, Robert Bellinger.

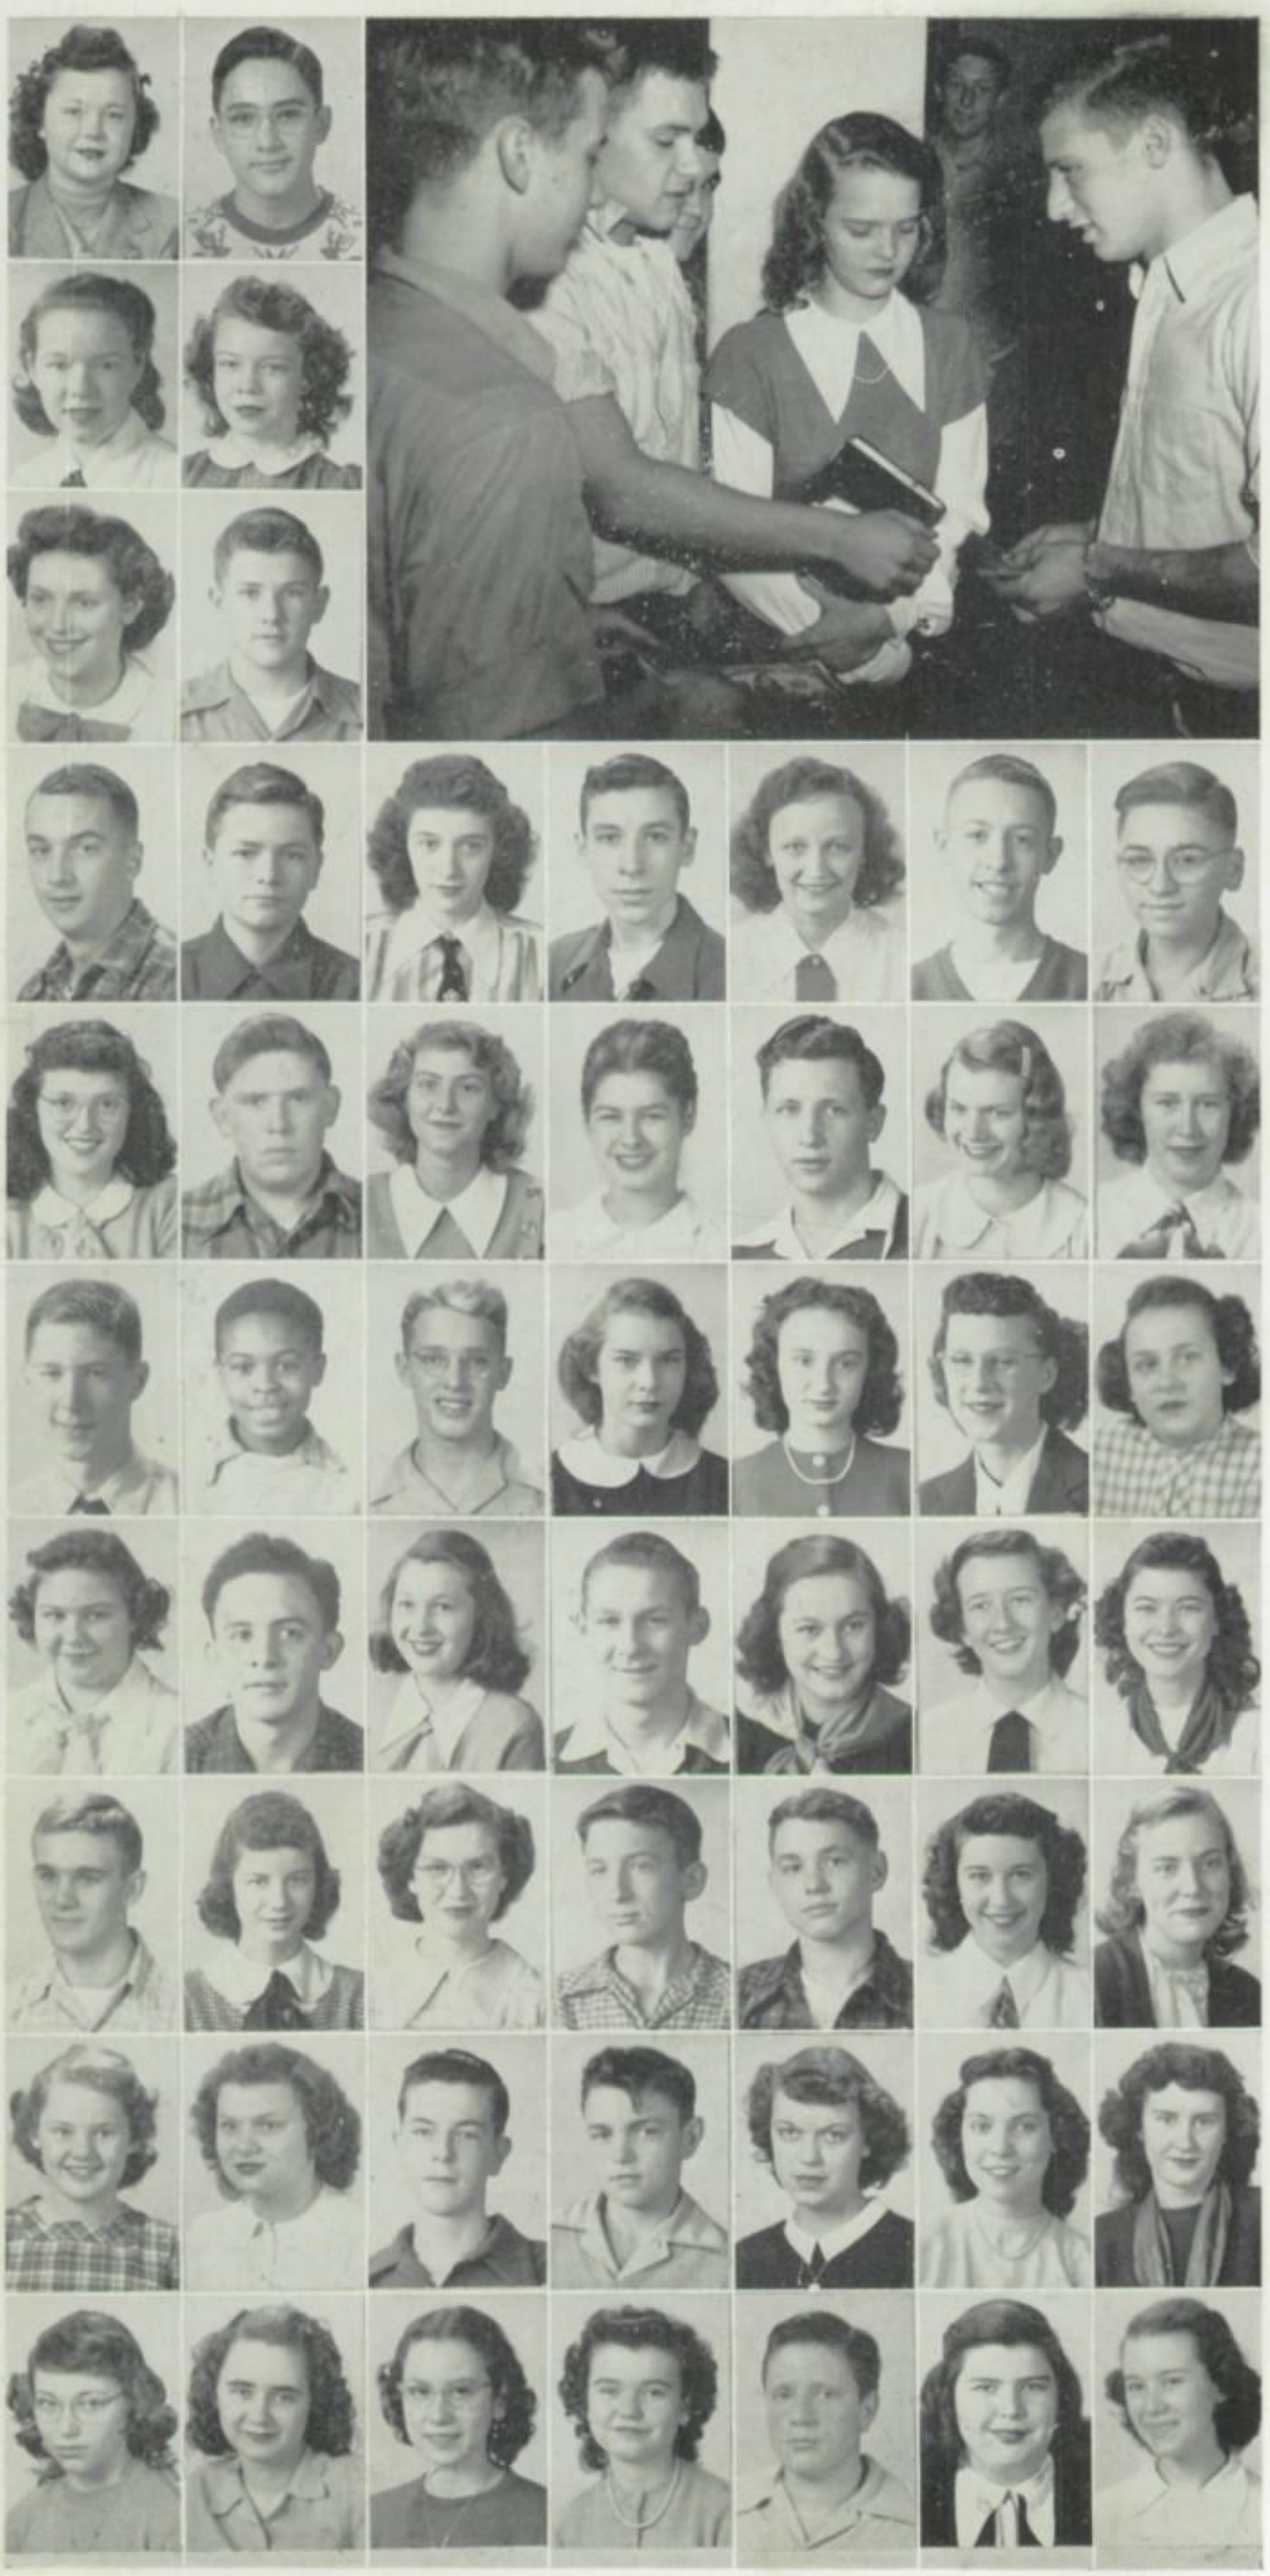
Row 8: Howell Clauser, Patsie Clapsattle.

Row 9: Joan Coblentz, Gordon Coffing.

Row 10: Kenny Cole, Stan Collyer.

Sitting on the desks in study hall, one of the favorite gathering places after school, we see Jim Krause, Jean Decker, Shirley Hemphill, and Virginia Miller resting after a long day.



Seen gathering in center hall during the fifth period are Larry Lauer, Morgy Craig, Doug Lawrence, Doris Reisinger, and Chuck Scheele. The boys seem to be straightening out their finances.

Row 1: Iris Corbin, Joe Cosentino.

Row 2: Alice Craig, Carol Crumrine.

Row 8: Carl Scheuman, Kenny Schmidt.

Row 9: Helen Schnitker, Bob Schloss.

Row 10: Phyllis Schonefeld, Cathy Schramm.

Standing just outside WOG's room in center hall are Bev Bergel, Nila Stine, Don Jung, and Carol Waterman discussing their problems after school.

Sitting in front of South Side on the steps in the warm spring sun and breeze we find Keith Clauser, back to camera, Bill Bower, and Bob Davis.

Row 1: Donna Schrecongost, Lou Ann Schroeder.

Row 2: Mary Lou Schubert, Ronald Schultheis.

Row 3: LaDonna Schweizer, Kyle Sell.

Feeling First Effects of Attracting Force

Betsy Roe and Dick Johnson are on the platform, probably preparing one of the speeches that have made them famous.

At left, second row:

The couple apparently interested in a book are none other than the cutest couple of the freshman class, Dick Clark and Janet Thomas.

At right, second row:

Bob Carrel and Marilyn Rheinfrank have a lot of musical talent. Their classmates do appreciate them, for they voted for them as their best boy and girl musicians.

At left, third row:

Georgia Thompson and Jim Andrews have just selected their favorite platter in preparation for dancing, as their classmates consider them the best girl and boy dancers.

Joan Clauser entertains Gene Towns, the best boy athlete of the class, and Bob Loomis, handsomest boy, left and right, with a one-handed rendition on the piano. She was voted the cutest girl in the class and the best girl athlete.

"Sustaining its character and dignity" in all the everyday scenes found here has been our job for the last four years. To all you underclassmen who still have time to enjoy everything found here we pass this responsibility. Try to improve in every way what we have done, and you will increase South Side's holding power even more.

At the top are proud So-Si-Y members inspecting the food collected for a Thanksgiving basket.

In the center enthusiastic boosters of the basketball team are making loads of noise.

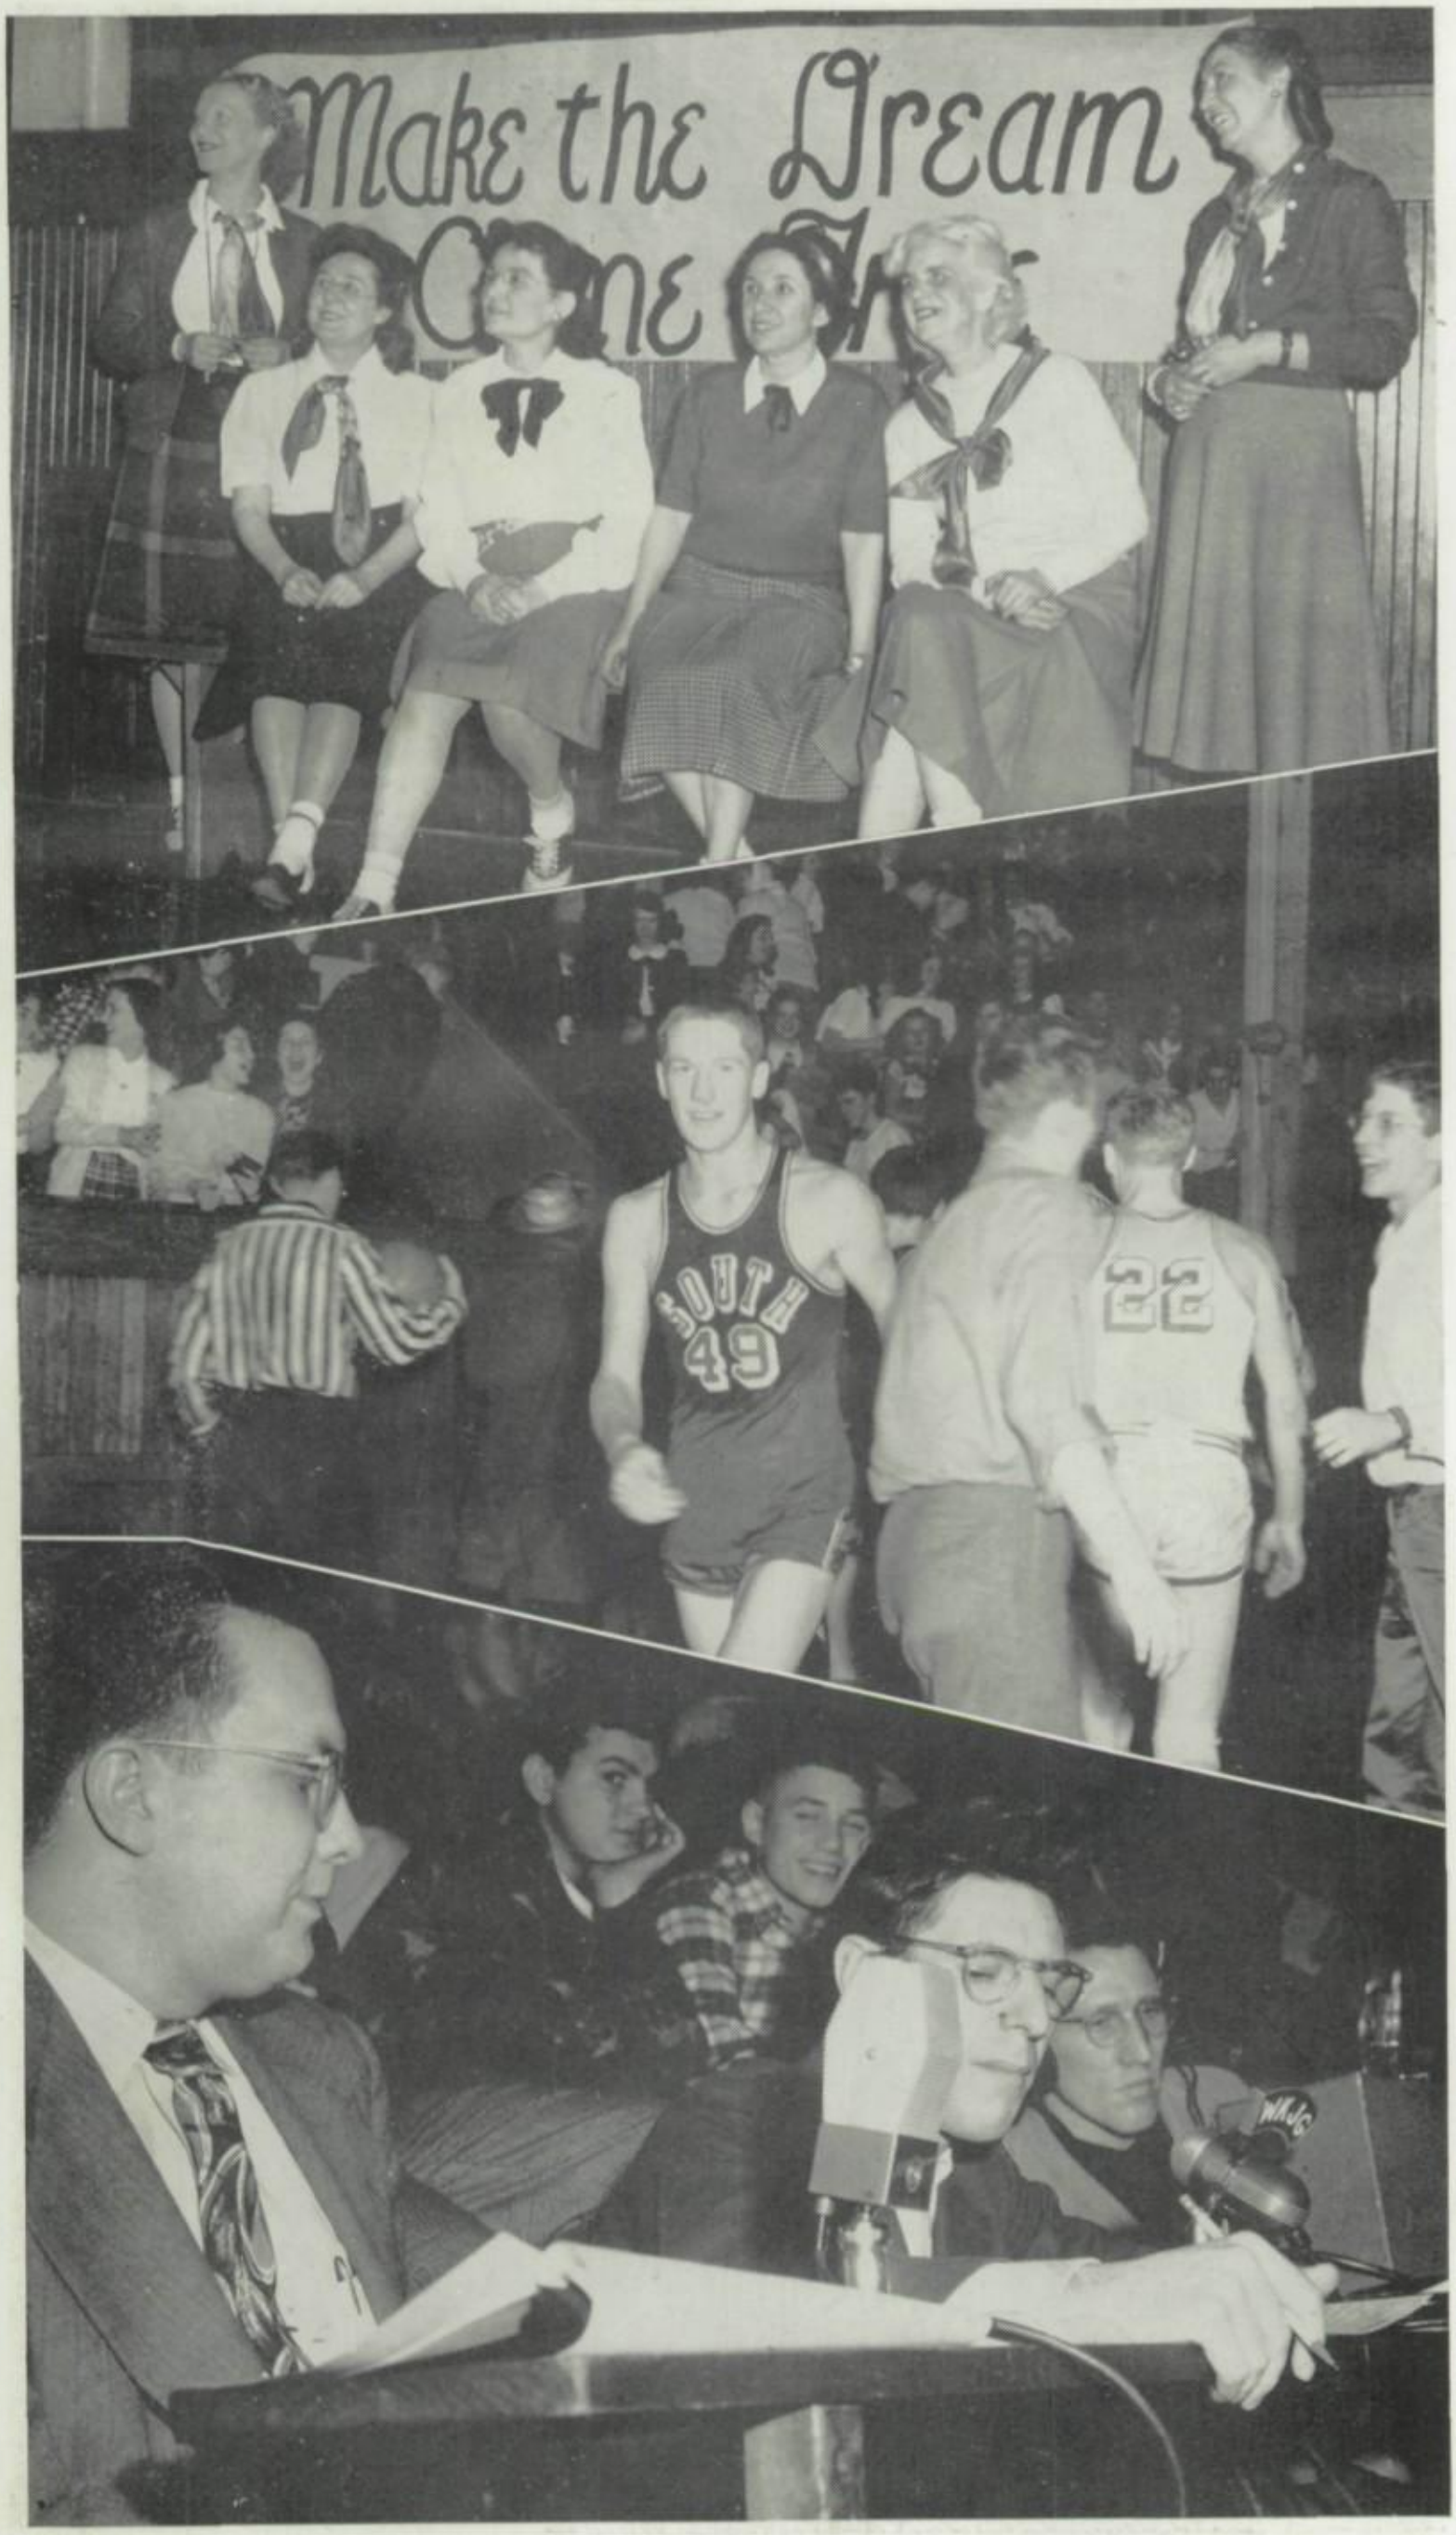
At the bottom are South Side Archers dancing to the splendid music played at the Sophomore Party.

At the top are the officials watching from the sidelines the South Side-Peru gridiron battle.

In second picture are the South Side twirlers leaving the floor after an exhausting square dance.

In the third picture are Mr. Earl Sterner, Mr. Benjamin Null, and Mr. Lloyd Whelan preparing to pounce on the foe at any minute at one of our exciting pep sessions.

At the bottom is the Archer band at the Kendallville game playing for the enjoyment of all the fans.



The Misses Helen Pohlmeyer, Dorothy Magley, Susen Peck, Pauline Van Gorder, Erma Dochterman, and Lucy Osborne go back a couple of years to their bobby-sox days and add enthusiasm to our pep session before the sectionals.

"Bo" Mossman gives with his victory smile after South Side's two-point success over Concordia.

WKJG is on the job again in the form of Hilliard Gates at the Indianapolis Shortridge game, South Side's last for the regular '47-'48 season.

This beautiful tree served as an inspiration to clubs meeting in the Greeley Room during the Christmas season.

Government and history students especially appreciated the efforts of these Christmas decorators. The decorations they created in Mr. Jake McClure's room were a constant reminder that the long-awaited Christmas vacation was soon to come.

Miss Hutto's art students extend their work outside Room 61 in their aim to make South Side "full of Christmas", even in study.

Parents of shop students see their sons in action. Too bad, boys, there's no chance to avoid the issue with two very interested adults watching each and every one of you.

As an adviser to prospective South Side students, who is better suited than our own principal, Mr. Snider? Here he talks with boys who became the very evident freshmen. This meeting prevented some of the evidence.

The South Side String Ensemble provides music during the meal of the National Honor Society Banquet for the members, their parents, and their teachers.

My, but everyone looks sad; and well they may. They are last year's seniors at one of their last gatherings, Ivy Day. Mr. Merle J. Abbett is presenting the ivy to Bill Seidel to plant; Bob Johnson, class president, and Pat Farnham, attendant of the Ivy Queen, look on.

The important day for seniors is here and Sharon Langohr, Ivy Queen, leads last year's Ivy Day Parade of seniors and their home room teachers.

Always ready to entertain, the choir here contributes much to the enjoyment of the parents at the Senior PTA tea.

South Side's Junior Prom received the attention of Fort Wayne's active fire department. Many nice people besides juniors worked to prepare for our good time during the "Starlight Waltz."

Dear Marianne,

We've really had some swell times together. Let's hope they don't end (at least not like Mary Lou's friendship did) May you always have good luck in everything you do. Stay as sweet as you have been.
